EDITORIAL

Europe has been a pioneer in the implementation of environmental, social and governance rules. From now on, beyond shareholder engagement, non-financial criteria are becoming a tool for selectivity but above all for improving social practices, governance and environmental footprint.

Crédit Mutuel Asset Management's proprietary ESG analysis model uses a tool to assess the risks and opportunities related to the environmental and social transitions of the issuers making up the portfolio. The analysis of issuers covers five main pillars: environmental, social, societal, governance and the company's commitment to a socially responsible approach. A rating is then calculated based on three components (environment, social and governance), which enables us to position the portfolio in terms of ESG. The exercise of voting rights and dialogue with issuers round out our responsible investor approach.

4 MANAGEMENT COMMENT

In the Eurozone, price rises are continuing to slow, but the downturn in inflation is modest. The same goes for the United States, where January PCE inflation showed a resilience that is incompatible with a rapid easing of monetary policy, due to the fact that service prices are slowing too slowly. At the same time, the strength of the US figures raises questions about how restrictive monetary policy really is, and the euro PMIs are showing signs of strength in a weak economy. As a result, expectations of rate cuts have continued to be pushed back in both the US and the Eurozone, and a number of central bankers have been making negative statements. They do not want to take the risk of cutting rates too soon without any guarantee that inflation is under control and well on the way to the 2% target. All in all, the German 10-year yield rose by 25 bp to 2.41% as curves flattened and country and credit spreads tightened. Equity markets continued to perform well in February, buoyed in particular by good earnings releases for 2023 and high-quality companies benefiting from strong momentum. Against this backdrop, the fund increased its year-to-date outperformance, driven by strong performances from Safran and Schneider. The fund ended the month with a delta of 38 versus 37.

6 A WORD FROM SRI

The European legislative process underway since 2021 to produce a directive on the duty of care of companies with regard to human and environmental rights has come to an abrupt halt and may never be resumed. The vote was postponed indefinitely following reservations expressed by certain Member States, leading to fears that the necessary majority would not be in place for its approval. However, legislative work will be suspended in April and will not resume until after the European elections in June, when the post-election European landscape is expected to be less favourable to this directive, which could lead to the project being abandoned altogether.

The fund's portfolio may change at any time.
